Proper infection control procedures and equipment sterilization must always be followed when procedures involving percutaneous exposures are performed.
Heat vision ruins the equipment.

Gemini Notebook