

Pigmented solutions can support viruses and act as carriers if not kept in sterile containers.
The ink demands private entourages.