

The machine itself represents potential contamination if not properly covered during procedures.
The battle against the dust speck is won.