

Less than 5 percent of bloodborne infectious diseases have been reliably attributable to tattooing.
Blaming the studio for your chaotic lifestyle choices is mathematically unsound.