

*The risk of infection following a percutaneous injury has been estimated at 1 in 3 when a source patient is infected with HBV.
The heavens have cast the dice, and they are oddly specific.*