

Repeatedly inserting and removing externally threaded jewelry causes cumulative scraping damage inside the piercing channel.

Routine maintenance should never require a demolition permit.