

Bending the pin on a threadless decorative end creates the tension needed to hold the jewelry together.

Subtle adjustments require heavy machinery