

Excessively high energy density causes wholesale heating rather than efficiently fragmenting the pigment.
THE BRUTE FORCE APPROACH WAS RARELY THE CORRECT ANSWER.