

Laser targets specific pigment granules.

Avoid wholesale heating of epidermis.

Collateral damage causes severe blistering.

10

1

Heat must remain highly confined.

Selective photothermolysis demands pulses shorter than thermal relaxation time.
Target pigment without burning tissue.

