

The nickel migration limit for healing piercings is far stricter than the limit for ordinary skin contact.

Some metals belong securely in the vault.