

Nickel allergies are often misdiagnosed as infections because they cause severe itching and redness.

The itch requires heavy machinery.