

Sunlight exposure causes polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons in black ink to fragment into highly reactive compounds. A glowing endorsement of staying indoors.