Tattoo pigments migrate from the dermis into draining lymph nodes where they persist permanently.

The treasure map was drawn on permeable membranes.