

Polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons in black inks act as photosensitizers and generate reactive intermediates under ultraviolet light.

Stealth protocols require changing scenery.