

Trace metallic impurities found in pigments and needle wear provoke chronic sensitization over prolonged skin contact.

You are now fundamentally incompatible with cutlery.