

Animals introduce biological contaminants and present a severe risk to maintaining an aseptic piercing environment.
Bringing a raccoon to a sterile procedure shows a bold commitment to chaos.