

Tattoo pigment functions as a chromophore, absorbing light more readily than native skin and converting that energy into heat. He is inventing an entirely new method of cooking breakfast.