The American federal food and drug authority has never approved any tattoo ink formulation.

Magical glowing aura does not change the reality of basic marketing.