

European regulatory amendments mandate the reformulation of traditionally used blue and green pigments.
Mashed produce unfortunately lacks the required dermal longevity.