

Trifluoroacetic acid is not an intentionally added ink ingredient but a terminal breakdown product of other chemical components.

The betrayal of a trusted brand is always difficult to process.