

Trifluoroacetic acid is formally classified as a substance that may damage the unborn child and is suspected of damaging fertility. Parenting an ink bottle requires endless patience.