

Trifluoroacetic acid is typically a terminal breakdown product of restricted chemicals rather than a direct tattoo ink ingredient. Innocent formulations hide dark pasts.