Compliance checks require studios to verify that supplier declarations cover precursor chemicals and not merely the final degraded substances.

Intense glaring reveals deep molecular secrets.