

Copying the visible marks without learning the context is entirely comparable to copying a surgical instrument without learning surgery.

The perfectly copied sacred geometry meant absolutely nothing without the instruction manual.