

Paying respect to teachers remains a religious gathering rather than a theatrical activation ceremony.
Formal wear proves excessive for quiet contemplation.