

Copying a visible mark without learning its context resembles copying a surgical instrument.
Papercraft scalpels yield highly disappointing medical results.