

2
My eyes are
precision
instruments.

Perfect
execution.

Estimating tissue depth by eye frequently results in insufficient structural support and subsequent migration. Optical calibration remains surprisingly inferior to actual measuring tools.