

Tattoo procedures require disposable needles and pigment cups that must be discarded into puncture-proof containers immediately after use. Flimsy plastic cups rarely deserve heirloom status.