

Using unpurified municipal water introduces dissolved minerals that accumulate as thick scale on internal chamber walls and heating elements.

Indoor stalagmite farming is a terrible business model.