

Bare instruments processed without packaging are instantly exposed to ambient airborne contaminants the moment the chamber door opens.

Invisible air hugs ruin everything.