
Colour change in the biological indicator confirms that conditions inside the load did not achieve lethality.

Staring intensely at the vial does not intimidate the surviving spores into surrendering.