

Pure gold is too soft for functional jewelry and scratches easily without being alloyed.
The royal blacksmith has shifted his entire focus to crafting protective sweaters.