

Injection-moulded polymers can form complex monolithic shapes without rotational joints.
Absolute perfection requires complete stubbornness.