

Spatial separation with no backtracking is an essential design principle.

The tongs are kept on standby.