

Overhead lighting produces shadows while articulating procedure lamps with focused beams are the standard.
The monsters retreat under focused illumination.