

General liability covers damage to a client's property but excludes the actual skin-penetration procedure.

The coat rack is perfectly safe.