

A standard generic business insurance policy will actively exclude any professional procedure that involves breaking the skin.

The epidermis remains perfectly unbreached.