

Transcutaneous piercings expose metal to daily sweat and soap which continually accelerate the corrosion process.
His daily hygiene routine is unnecessarily aggressive.