

Newly introduced particles have fewer stable binding sites and may migrate laterally.

Physics refuses to negotiate.