

Scar tissue does not accept pigment the way normal dermis does.
Stone remains exceptionally stubborn.