

Chemical regulations strictly limit the migration rate of nickel from piercing post assemblies. Deploying orbital defense scanners to check tiny jewelry ensures total peace of mind.