

Red and yellow inks often contain heavy metals that trigger severe skin irritation. Blacksmithing apprenticeships are rarely required for standard colour work.