

*Specific blue and green pigments are restricted in the European Union due to safety data gaps.
The grass is always redder on the compliant side of the continent.*