

Proceeding with a procedure while taking systemic immunosuppressants without explicit dermatologist clearance is a definite contraindication.
Forging medical permission slips proved far harder than passing high school algebra.