

Hold still!

Perfect patient!

Researchers use synthetic optical tissue phantoms to safely evaluate tattoo identification methods without using living skin.

Rubber mannequins never complain about the buzzing.