

Foreign body granulomas form when the immune system attempts to wall off indigestible pigment particles.
A brick wall is an acceptable substitute for digestion.