

High-frequency ultrasound reveals the depth and severity of adverse tattoo reactions without cutting the skin.
Throwing blades out the window is excellent customer service.