

Regulatory agencies oversee tattoo inks as cosmetics despite their intended placement directly into the dermis.
It turns out foundation requires a considerably heavier hand.