

Marking exact opening dates on containers supports stock rotation and maintains manufacturer storage conditions.
Throwing a birthday party for inventory is rarely very rewarding.