Topping up one bottle from another is undocumented formulation and contamination transfer.

The house blend is finally ready for a tasting.